

We plan to review recent findings concerning the chemical enrichment of the Galactic Halo, and in particular, the trend of alpha-elements as a function of the Galactocentric distance and iron abundance.