

I will discuss the theoretical modeling of chemical evolution for the elements: europium and phosphorus, in particular, stressing the importance of supernovae as the site of r-process and an overlooked production site for P.